

Mosquito

The annihilation of the world after bringing it into being is no stranger than its origination and creation.

How can it be so?

For even if all its living beings, birds and beasts,

the animals of the stable and the pasture,

all the genera and species of beings, the dull and the intelligent of the world's nations

–were all of them together try to create a mosquito, they will be incapable of bringing it into being,

and will not know how it has been created.

(Sermon 185)
